Ryan Appleby is a litigation partner in the Los Angeles office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher. Ryan focuses his practice on complex civil litigation and trial advocacy. He has helped clients navigate disputes in state and federal court, arbitration, and mediation in a variety of industries, including health care, insurance, higher education, and technology. Ryan has successfully tried some of his client's most significant, high stakes matters including cases involving over a billion dollars of potential damages. Ryan also understands cases are fought and won inside and outside the courtroom and has extensive experience assisting in public relations, defending client secrets and confidentiality, and working with clients to protect reputational interests. Ryan has been recognized by Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch® in America for Insurance Law (2023-2024).

Ryan's representative matters include:

- Trial counsel for a large U.S. manufacturer in an international arbitration where the claimant alleged fraud and breach of contract and sought over one billion dollars in damages. After a three week arbitration, the three-member tribunal ruled entirely in favor of the client, awarding it attorneys' fees and costs from claimant.
- Representing leading health benefits business in numerous disputes and trials across the country relating to out-of-network reimbursements.
- Trial counsel for national insurance company in highly publicized month-long trial relating to confirmation of a bankruptcy plan filed by the insured.
- Representing leading insurer as trial counsel and national coordinating counsel for all sex abuse exposures, including several cases involving dozens of insurance policies spanning several decades.
- Representing university in litigation resulting from dozens of lawsuits filed in state and federal court alleging sexual abuse by university doctor.
- Trial counsel for leading semiconductor manufacturer in breach of contract dispute with former CEO.
- Represented multinational automotive manufacturer in putative class action involving alien tort and RICO claims and successfully secured a complete dismissal following oral argument and published decision. (You v. Japan (N.D. Cal.
