Orange County

Kaylie Springer is a litigation associate in the Orange County office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher.

Kaylie has represented a diverse group of clients in a wide range of high-stakes disputes. Her recent representations include a group of the founders and early executives of the online dating application Tinder in a three-year, multibillion-dollar litigation, including a month-long jury trial, and a confidential investigation into allegations of harassment and related misconduct, including executive misconduct, for a company in the entertainment industry.

From 2022 to 2023, Kaylie served as a law clerk to the Honorable Ruth Bermudez Montenegro of the United States District Court for the Southern District of California. She received her Juris Doctor degree, cum laude, in 2018 from the University of Michigan Law School, where she was an editor on the University of Michigan Journal of Law Reform. Kaylie received her Bachelor of Arts degree, summa cum laude, from the University of Pittsburgh in 2014.

Prior to joining the Orange County office, Kaylie was an associate in Gibson Dunn's New York office.

Kaylie is admitted to practice in the States of California, New York, and Florida.
